

DUOHAN ZHANG

Tel:(+1)6089773453

dzhang357@wisc.edu

Department of Statistics, University of Wisconsin Madison

SHORT BIO

Duohan Zhang is currently a and master student of data science and statistics in Department of Statistics, University of Wisconsin Madison. He is very fortunate to work on an off-policy reinforcement learning(RL) project with Professor Josiah Hanna. Prior to that, he was a bachelor student in University of Science and Technology of China, majoring in statistics.

EDUCATION

University of Wisconsin Madison

Department of Statistics, master in Data Science

Madison, Wisconsin

2021/9 - 2023/5

University of Science and Technology of China

Department of Statistics, bachelor in statistics

Hefei, China

2018/9 - 2022/6

GPA: 86.47

RESEARCH EXPERIENCE

Robust On-Policy Sampling for Data-efficient Policy Evaluation

2021/12 - 2022/5

University of Wisconsin Madison

Advisor: Prof. Josiah Hanna

AWARDS

Student scholarship from USTC

2019,2020

School of Management, University of Science and Technology of China

SKILLS

Programming Languages and Tools

Python, Open AI gym, C, R, LaTeX, Mathematica